- ✓ Plant Based Capsules
  - The DRcaps™ help protect the probiotic formula from the low pH environment of the stomach – without adding “non-food” ingredients consumers object to (see above). The low moisture level of DRcaps™ also extends product life by protecting the live hydroscopic freeze-dried probiotics by insulating them from moisture, thereby extending their life. The innovative DRcaps™ delayed release capsule targets release after an extended time period, protecting ingredients from degradation in the stomach.

Advanced Tablets vs Advanced Capsules:

- Tablets are notorious for not dissolving in the digestive tract. People complain that they are indigestible and come out whole. This is true for both “enteric” coded tablets and regular ones. Perhaps this is because they are difficult and expensive to make correctly. Further, tablets, including “enteric” coded tablets contain undesirable excipients that must be listed under other ingredients. The DRcaps™ don’t have that problem and in addition are guaranteed to dissolve.
